

Research Initiative

The department is committed to the development and dissemination of excellent scholarship about clinical art therapy. In support of that goal, the Research Initiative has been established as a resource for systematic investigations by faculty, students and alumni of the Graduate Department of Marital and Family Therapy.

We hope to establish collaborative projects, workshop opportunities and discussion forums to help frame, advance and complete original explorations.

The Research Initiative's first event, a celebration of scholarship done by the program, is scheduled for late spring 2012.
